

Mrs. James Scott, wife of James Scott, formerly one of Kauai's plantation managers, who has been in the Orient, both in Formosa and China, for the past two years while her husband was building sugar mills in Formosa, has achieved unusual prominence in Shanghai in target shooting. Mrs. Scott, while in Honolulu, was known as a crack marksman with both the rifle and revolver. She became a member of the exclusive Shanghai Gun Club and in the various shoots held she won all the first trophies with the rifle. As her expert skill became known and further that she was even better with the pistol, it is said that the members barred her from pistol competitions. Her skill with firearms is remarkable. While in the Hawaiian Islands she kept in constant practice. The picture of Mrs. Scott shown on this page, was taken in Formosa. She is standing near a Formosan savage who was brought into a town near a sugar plantation. Her son stands at the left.

Wodehouse and Charlotte Dowsett, followed by the maid of honor, Miss Mildred Grace, who was prettily dressed in blue. The bride, in a princess gown of white silk net over white satin, trimmed with Irish lace, wearing a bridal veil held in the coiffure with orange blossoms, entered, leaning on the arm of her father, Hon. James W. Robertson. The bride was met at the chancel by the groom and his best man, Robert Chillingworth. The Robertson home was beautifully decorated for the reception, the bride and groom receiving beneath a canopy of maldenhair ferns tied with broad white satin ribbon, interspersed with white marguerites and lilies. A wedding supper followed, and the bride cut the big cake. Her bouquet was caught by Miss Deinert. One of the many beautiful presents given to the bride was a handsome opal ring set with diamonds, which came from ex-Governor A. S. Cleghorn, a trinket which once belonged to the lamented Princess Kaiulani, the bride being her godchild.

The musical recital given Friday evening in the ballroom of the Young Hotel by Hugo Herzer, who presented his advanced pupils, was an artistic success, reflecting much credit on both Mr. and Mrs. Herzer. Among those who appeared on the program were Miss Irmgard Schaefer, Mr. Christian Jenkins, Mr. Henry Clark and Mrs. Herzer. A large and fashionable audience was present.

Mrs. Frear read a selection from Chaucer, appropriate to the occasion, and the May dancers sang an old English ballad, a selection which has been sung in "Merrie England" for many hundred years, the accompaniment being played by Miss Sheffield of Oahu College. Then came the gay dancing around the pole, stepped by sixteen ladies of the club, four in costumes of yellow, four in pink, four in blue and four in lavender. Miss Tucker was the May Queen, who received her subjects in a bower, according to ye olde time way. Then the people broke up into a merry gathering, pelted one another with their garlands, and finally refreshments were served, following the old way, the delicacies being pie and lemonade.

The president of the College Club, Mrs. Hendrick, wore a historically correct costume fashioned after one worn by Richard II's queen. Among the interested spectators were Mrs. Charles Warren Fairbanks, wife of the former Vice President of the United States; her daughter, Mrs. Timmons; and Her Majesty Liliuokalani.

On Thursday evening Miss Rosa Hilda Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Robertson, and Mr. William Chillingworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Chillingworth and brother of the Senator, were married at St. Andrew's cathedral, and afterwards held a reception at the home of the bride's parents, in Nuuanu avenue. The wedding ceremony was a pretty one, the Rev. Dr. Simpson officiating. As the Wedding March was played, the ushers, Messrs. A. Robertson, David Sherwood, Paul Schmidt, Charles Chillingworth and Bradford Sumner, walked up the aisle, preceding the flower girls—the Misses Irma

President and Mrs. Griffiths of Oahu College, who leave at the end of the school year for a year's vacation, to be spent mostly in Worcester, Mass., gave a dinner party on Thursday evening, the guests including Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ashford, Mr. and Mrs. McNeil, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rhodes.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Dillingham celebrated the fortieth anniversary of their wedding on Monday afternoon at their home in Punahou, their children arranging the function. A large number of their friends were present, the couple receiving on the lawn. One of the pretty features of the day was the presentation and reading of a testimonial from those living who attended the wedding ceremony. Judge Dole and Mrs. Walter Weedon being the committee of presentation. The arrangements for the affair devolved upon Mrs. Walter Frear, Mrs. J. P. Erdman and Harold Dillingham. Among the guests present were Hon. and Mrs. Charles Warren Fairbanks and their daughter, Mrs. Timmons.

Jack Balch, manager of the wireless company, departed yesterday for San Francisco on the S. S. Lurline and on arriving will marry Miss Helen Bay Skelley, a fair visitor to Honolulu last year and the year before. They will return to Honolulu in June to reside here permanently. A large number of Jack's friends were at the dock yesterday to see him off and after loading him with leis, showered him with rice. Miss Skelley is an accomplished musician, particularly as a pianist. Mr. Balch is an extremely popular man with his fellows.

Miss Maud Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Jones, who underwent an operation for appendicitis during the week, is recuperating rapidly.

Baron von Uhlig, the son of a noble German house, has been paying an extended visit to the Hawaiian Islands in company with Mr. Edward Pollitz. The Baron's ability as an engineer and his thirty years of untiring efforts in the employ of the State of California have resulted in the marvelous improvements which have taken place along the San Francisco harbor front. The Baron has found many of his old friends in Honolulu who have taken every opportunity to make his visit enjoyable, and returns to San Francisco with many favorable and varied views of the Islands. The Baron is a bachelor, but has been under the protective wing of Hon. Robert W. Shingle who has used his best efforts to keep the titled gentleman in Honolulu. The Baron, however, returns to the Coast in the Korea. It is said that he is the owner of an ancestral castle on the Rhine. The Superintendent of Public Works, Marston Campbell, served his engineering apprenticeship under Baron von Uhlig.
